DRUGS ACT TO STOP FRENCH TARIFF WAR

Government Will Resort to Stringent Act to Prevent Fight.

WINES AND LIQUORS LIKELY TO SUFFER

France Has Determined to Impose Maximum Rates on American Goods.

It may be necessary to employ the pure food and drugs act against French wines and champagnes in case France shows signs of resorting to a tariff war against the United States.

The tariff situation between this country and France has reached a point of the most acute interest on both sides of the Atlantic. It has about got down to this, that unless France backs down and gives the United States concessions, there will be a big tariff war after

It is settled that France will enforce her maximum rates against all ship-ments from this country after November 1. And this country will impose the general tariff rates of the new tariff law against champagnes, wines, brandies, argols, and other articles that have been getting reduced rates under the agreement which is to terminate with the end of this month.

France has determined to impose the maximum rates on the articles now entering that country under reduced rates in accordance with the agreement in question which was made under the reciprocity clause of the old Dingley law.
